

Disneyland Program to Launch United Nations Week Observance

Observance of United Nations Week in Southern California will be launched Saturday at Disneyland, with costumed children, vocal groups and motion picture-TV star Jan Sterling participating.

Co-sponsored by all of the Southern California Chapters of the United Nations Association, the event will take place beginning at 2:30 p.m. at the Plaza Gardens in Disneyland.

Highlighting the program will be the appearance of the Long Beach United Nations Children, a group of 82 youngsters dressed in costumes representing many of the United Nations' member countries. They will join the Chapman College Chorus in a special United Nations' hymn, "Let There Be Peace."

TWO STATEMENTS from world leaders, President Dwight D. Eisenhower and United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld, also will be presented.

Miss Sterling will read President Eisenhower's Proclamation to the United Nations, issued to commemorate the world organization's 15th anniversary. Hammarskjöld's "Message to Children" will be delivered as a dramatic voice-chorus reading by a group of 30 students from the Starbuck Intermediate School at La Habra.

ROUNDING OUT the program will be the formal dedication of the Maas-Rowe Carillons, one of the largest installations of electronic bells in the world. Played by Paul Peery, it will be sounded from atop Disneyland's Sleeping Beauty Castle as a tribute to Peace.

On view throughout the day at the Plaza Gardens will be the travelling play of UNICEF Children's Paintings from throughout the world. The presentation last appeared in San Francisco.
